INAUGURAL ADDRESS

OF

His Honor Mayor William O. Junkins.

Gentlemen of the City Councils:

Ten short months ago I was chosen to preside over the interests of this city. With a due appreciation of the honor thus conferred upon me, yet being at that time a stranger to municipal affairs and realizing the responsibility consequent upon such an important position, it was with no small amount of trepidation I entered upon my duties. While in any community to a greater or less extent, a certain amount of judicious, harmonious judgment is always attainable, still a complete concurrence of the thoughts and schemes of different individuals is an utter impossibility, and perhaps well for us this is so, for is it not from a multiplicity of ideas are culled the most practical and best directed methods to form a foundation which, if wisely directed and executed, will finally terminate in a systematic whole?

So my opinion on various topics may have differed from those of some of you, yet to the best of my ability I have striven with diligence and perseverance to perform all obligations with carefulness and consideration, and in a manner which I deemed would best promote the welfare of city and citizens. By again responding to the call of the majority, experience compels me to assert that, if possible, the outlook assumes an appearance of even greater significance, for with the knowledge gained comes also the conviction of the knowledge required, and as the harvest alone can disclose the prosperity of the seed time, so will the ensuing months reveal to each of you the outcome of—I will not say greater assiduousness, for any task worthy the name should call forth the most strenuous efforts for its successful accomplishment—but a continued and earnest endeavor for the good of all.

The total debt of the city on January 1st last was $845,500, divided as follows:

Bonds issued in payment of the water works and improvement thereof,	$325,000.00
Portsmouth & Dover R. R. bonds,	173,000.00
Municipal bonds (school, sewer, etc.),	222,500.00
Floating debt notes due N. H. National bank,	125,000.00
Making a total of	$845,500.00

Assets of the city are computed as follows:

Uncollected taxes for the years 1889 to 1895 inclusive,	$15,497.93
Real estate bought for taxes,	13,156.88
Cash in Portsmouth Savings bank (Parrot fund),	1,131.91
Cash in hands of treasurer,	199.29
Total,	$29,986.91
1720 shares Portsmouth & Dover R. R. stock,	$172,000.00
Water works enlarged and improved,	325,000.00
Total of assets,	$526,986.01
Leaving a net debt of	318,513.99

The floating debt since has been increased $40,000, making the floating debt at the present time $165,000, and the total net debt $358,513.99.

As there will be no source of income to the city before July next, when the taxes become available, this amount must be necessarily increased. With these figures before us it certainly will become our duty to practise the most rigid economy to the best of our judgment in the expenditure of the city's money.

The last total assessed valuation of this city was $7,372,747. An act was passed in the last legislature regulating the issuing of bonds by municipal corporations, which reads as follows: (Section 9, chapter 43, Laws of 1895) "No bonds shall be issued by any municipal corporation which will increase the net debt of such corporation to an amount exceeding five per cent. of the value of the taxable property therein as last appraised for the purpose of assessing taxes on such corporation." So the limit of our debt must be five per cent. of the above valuation, which is $368,637.35.

Our net-debt now equals this amount and in a few days will certainly exceed it; we shall be unable to issue any bonds for any new purpose whatever, and shall be obliged to raise by taxation all money that is to be expended the coming year for each and every purpose.

The net expenditures for the year 1895 were $276,885.43, divided among the various departments and accounts.

For an itemized account of the same, and all other matters relating to the city finances, I will respectfully refer you to the auditor's report in the city book, which will be ready for distribution in a few days.

POLICE DEPARTMENT.

No subject has more closely attracted the attention of the taxpayers during the past year than our police department, in control of a commission appointed by the governor and council. In the conduct of this department of our city, the citizens have found much to interest them. I think I may state without fear of contradiction, that at no time has there been so much to disgust the taxpayers in relation to the conduct of that department as has been brought to light since the legislature empowered the governor and council to take charge.

I do not deem it necessary to go into details over the actions of the commissioners, as they are known to all, and many of them have been the foundation of much humorous criticism throughout New England.

The question that most interests us is, What has the commission done for the city of Portsmouth to warrant its existence unless it be an extra burden to the taxpayers? Can they point to one act that has benefited the city? It may be some consolation to the taxpayers to learn that from Nashua and Manchester there comes the same complaint, and the spectacle of ministers appealing to the governor and council to make the police commission do certain things, has been witnessed during the past two weeks. Under the old system, the citizens could appeal to the mayor and aldermen when things in the police department did not suit them, and they were treated as citizens and given all information possible. At the present time the mayor has no authority over the police, and in case of trouble they cannot be called upon without an order from the commission, and yet the city councils are forced to appropriate money each year to pay for the support of this department. The present management of our police by a foreign body is un-American, un-democratic, un-republican, and I believe is opposed by nine tenths of our citizens. I would recommend that the amount now appropriated be reduced to $11,000, and that the commission be so notified, and let them act as they see fit. Our marshal and officers I have no right to criticise but must say an improvement has taken place of late. I cannot but view with alarm this usurping of political power, one of the prerogatives of kings, transferred to the legislature and governor of a state. We have no redress if we happen to differ from the dominant party. We are as helpless as the Cubans who are now struggling for their independence. The people of New England have too much of the spirit of '76 to always submit tamely to this unjust malfeasance.

The party having control of the legislature will always give us a commission favorable to them. This is liable at some future time to do us incalculable harm. I am sure that a large majority of our citizens are opposed to a police commission. It is destructive of home rule and local self-government. It is abhorrent to every independent, liberty-loving citizen, and when the system has been extended to our highways and streets, our fire department, our schools and other municipal affairs, as it is liable to be unless it is opposed and defeated here and now, we shall be at the mercy of partisan legislatures, unscrupulous state officials, and selfish combinations of persons not inhabitants of this city, and our government will be no less a tyranny than that of any monarchy or despotism in the world. But I have no power whatever in the matter, and whatever action shall be taken is for your consideration alone. I have at least done my duty in calling your attention to the situation.

SEWERS.

There is at present a great expense incurred in the completing of our sewer system. This is being done for the better protection of health, and while the city has been so generous in aiding her citizens, I fear in many instances the property owners have been rather delinquent in availing themselves of the opportunity of connecting with these sewers. I would advise the passage of an ordinance that all houses and other buildings on premises abutting on a street in which there is a public sewer, be connected with said sewer by the owner or agent of the premises in the most direct possible manner.

Not only would this be advisable for sanitary considerations, but the city would derive a revenue, partially adequate to liquidate the great expense of the work now going on. All sewers should be built under the supervision of a civil engineer; more work could in this way be accomplished and at less expense. I would suggest that a competent man be employed to superintend this work. I contend no one can do this in a satisfactory manner unless his previous education qualifies him for this important position. And, moreover, I feel compelled from observation and a greater knowledge to reconsider and qualify my former position in reference to this matter, and I would now recommend only such continuance of the present work as is absolutely necessary. Sewers laid from May, 1895, to March, 1896, 7,808 feet, or one and one-half miles, lacking 112 feet.

STREETS.

This department has received during the year its usual amount of time and money, and must inevitably be an expensive outlay to the city until the sewerage system is completed. The coming year the city will be required to expend a considerable sum in the completion of new highways. This is one of the departments in which the taxpayers are much interested. The subject of good roads is one of national imporance, and is prominently discussed in the various cities of the country and, in fact, has been brought before congress. The expenditure of money in this department should be regulated systematically, the amount to be appropriated monthly, and a steady improvement in our streets should be the result of this systematic labor. The city has been exceptionally fortunate during the present winter, but little expense having been incurred for the removal of snow from our streets and side-walks. In my former inaugural address I recommended certain improvements which, if adopted in the construction of our streets, would greatly enhance their usefulness. The words spoken then are as pertinent now and I cannot do better than by repeating my former suggestions. In my opinion there is something wrong in the system of macadamizing used by the street department, and I fully believe that our streets can be so constructed as to stand heavy travel and wear longer than they do under the present system. Perhaps this can be overcome by building from a lower depth, and using larger crushed stone and then bringing the streets up to the grade with layers of smaller stone. This question is one I would recommend to your serious consideration. I would further suggest that it would be well to have Vaughan street and perhaps one or two others, where constant heavy teaming is the case, treated in the manner suggested, fully believing that it will prove a saving to the taxpayers in the end. In the streets where there is less travel I would recommend a lighter grade of macadamizing, which will answer all demands and wear for years if given proper attention by the city workmen each year. It appears to me that it would be wise to appropriate a certain sum of money annually to macadamize certain streets and have them done thoroughly, then make a separate appropriation for repairs and to maintain other necessities of this department.

STREET LIGHTS.

Our system of lighting the streets has been increased and greatly improved during the past year, and to-day we have as complete a system as any city of our size in New England.

The expense, however, is constantly increasing, and I would suggest that you give this subject your earnest consideration when demands are made for additional lights. The taxpayers have had an opportunity of testing the all-night system, and I feel confident that the plan and arrangements of this system are most satisfactory to them, and are in the line of improvement as adopted by all cities of any size.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

I do not consider any department more worthy of our vigorous support, nor that there is any to which we should respond with a more heartfelt generosity, than our "fire department." These brave men now numbering 110, with no thought for their own safety, are ever ready and willing to succor us in time of need, and it is especially when this calamity descends upon our homes that we are made most thoroughly acquainted with their self-sacrificing abilities, and the greatest amount of consideration on our part is but a small requisite towards the debt we owe them. A brief summary of Chief Engineer Randall's report, which was recently submitted, will fully explain the disbursements for the past year, the present condition, and future needs. Sum appropriated, $12,500; total expenditures, $12,890.39.

The engine houses situated on Hanover and Court streets have each received repairs and a few more are yet needed, but the method of heating in both is decidedly inadequate, the primary cause in the one being the result of defective piping, and in the other an inadequate boiler; in either case the amount of coal consumed being much greater than the requirements should demand for the heat received.

Thus it would seem that the expense consequent for repiping and the purchase of a larger boiler, might be in no slight degree neutralized by the smaller consumption of fuel which must naturally follow. The expense of hiring horses is no small item, the city owning but two which are used exclusively for the fire department, these being attached to the chemical. It seems urgent that at least two more should be added, for the remainder of the apparatus being dependent upon the street department, a delay of greater or less moment is rarely to be avoided; it is often the case when an alarm sounds that these are in some part of the city remote from the engine houses. The hydrants are in good condition and are considered equal to any emergency. The fire alarm is ably managed by the superintendent. Two new boxes have been added during the past year, and could the number be further increased by the addition of a couple near the outskirts for suburban fires it would leave little in this direction to be desired. Again we are requested to consider the expediency of erecting a new and modern engine house in the vicinity of the West end, for it is in this direction that both business interests and population are constantly extending, and it certainly contains in its area as large an amount of taxable property as is found in any other portion of our city; the necessity of this acquisition has been repeatedly urged upon us, and appears to me to be one of vital importance which in no wise should be neglected or postponed.

PUBLIC LIBRARY.

A few historic facts will, I think, prove interesting to many, especially our new residents who possibly may not be aware that it is to that most public spirited of citizens, Hon. Frank Jones, we owe the origin of our public library, for it was when mayor of this city in 1868 that he in the most munificent manner donated his salary as a nucleus, which, provided certain conditions be complied with, should form a foundation for this, when wisely used and promulgated, one of the surest means of promoting the moral and intellectual growth of any community. For a while it seemed as if this beneficence was not to bring about the desired result; but in course of time small accommodations were obtained and Portsmouth had made the beginning of what already many New England cities, with just pride, possessed in all its completeness. But the interest aroused in this direction did not decline; the number of books slowly yet steadily increased, and in a few years it was found necessary to secure larger and more convenient quarters, and finally the room now occupied and formerly known as "Congress hall" was rented by the city at an annual expense of $500. When the academy was vacated as a school building, owing to its central position public sentiment was immediately aroused as to the advisability of refitting this old landmark as a public library, but, as is always the case, a certain amount of delay became inevitable and it was a period of months before a satisfactory settlement regarding the lease of the property could be attained.

During the past summer the sum of $6,000 was appropriated to remodel the interior and otherwise properly repair the building for this purpose, and the work which was then begun and has since been steadily pushed forward, has been watched with a keen interest by all.

It has been thoroughly drained and will be well fitted with modern conveniences, and in April, something like twenty-eight years since the idea was first originated, we hope to present to our citizens apartments which shall favorably compare with any in the state.

CITY AUDITOR.

In June, 1895, by a provision made by our state legislature the office of city auditor was established in this city, and no move has met with more universal endorsement from the taxpayers than did the announcement of the creation of that office. Portsmouth, previous to the above date, was among the few cities in the country that did not employ an auditor and as a result, the financial affairs of the city were handled by the various heads with no one directly responsible, and of necessity there was not the attention given to the various bills that should be. By the authority invested in the mayor, I appointed Samuel R. Gardner to that important position, and I am pleased to state that he has discharged his duties to the satisfaction of all, and he has saved the city many times his salary since his appointment.

The duties of an auditor are familiar to all who have had experience with large business concerns, and much responsibility rests upon the shoulders of such officials. I desire to see the duties of an auditor still further extended so as to cover every department which the taxpayers are called upon to support. He should examine the books of the commissioners and all other city officials, at least once every month.

REGISTRATION OF PLUMBERS.

I would suggest for your adoption during the coming year certain rules and regulations relative to the plumbing and drainage of buildings, such regulations being deemed by me necessary for the safety and health of the people. I would suggest that every person engaged in this business or doing any work of plumbing in the city of Portsmouth be required to register his name and place of business, such registers to be kept by the board of health.

Each journeyman plumber and master plumber who does the work of a journeyman plumber will be required to show to the board of health an examination that he possesses the knowledge, ability, and capacity requisite to perform the work of his trade in a thorough and workmanlike manner.

HOSPITAL.

Personal benevolence combined with the untiring efforts of interested citizens has secured for us a home for the sick second to none, I think, of which any city of our size can boast. The removal from the former meagre quarters was made during the latter part of November when the "New Hospital", so long in anticipation, was formally opened for public inspection. Many of the furnishings are gifts of private individuals, and every convenience and many luxurious comforts for suffering humanity are here to be found, with efficient nurses ever anxious to relieve any distress within their power. Neither creed nor color has the slightest distinction; one and all are alike subjects of equal care and attention,—the only precedent ever having been sanctioned being the admission of residents before strangers. Many of the churches support free beds, and the community at large has rendered assistance most generously, but it must be remembered that more commodious accommodations mean a continual increase of expenses, and it would be very gratifying to me if by an act of the legislature the amount of $500, which is yearly appropriated by the city, could be augmented.

Again, and never more plainly than during the past few months, has been forced upon our minds the pressing necessity of a hospital for infectious diseases. At no time are we free from the possibilities of an epidemic, and although we may escape for a period of years, in no wise does this offer an excuse to be found unprepared when misfortune comes. Various sites have been proposed and several times have committees been appointed to investigate and report as to the favorable position and surroundings of the different selections, but owing to a diversity of opinions here at present, this one of the most important matters for municipal consideration rests.

It is never advisable to delay action until the danger is upon us. To be "forewarned is to be forearmed," always, and in my opinion no time should be lost and no necessary expense spared in the speedy preparation of a suitable abode which will tend to avoid the spread of contagion.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

You will readily understand how any extended remarks I would make in this direction would be so interwoven with professional ideas that many of you would think, and with perfect justification, that this inaugural was verging into a one-sided medical discussion. I will, nevertheless, in as few words as possible and in a totally unbiased manner, present a few thoughts which are uppermost in my mind. The board of health, as a rule, meet with more opposition and are perhaps oftener thwarted in their plans, than the supervisors of any other branch of city work, for generally one or more serving in this capacity are patrons of, and in fact dependent upon, public favor; and as any rigid enforcement of the laws and regulations is usually met with the greatest amount of censure by those most intimately concerned and an extended disapprobation is often the deliberate outcome, while on the other hand neglect meets with an equivalent aggregate of criticism, you will not fail to perceive how all attempts toward reform are necessarily surrounded by difficulties. Now, if some person (one I think would be sufficient) with a certain amount of time at his disposal could be elected or appointed, and from the beginning be assured that in the performance of every duty he would be most thoroughly sustained, I venture to predict that derogatory remarks would in the future be avoided, and instead of reproach the benefit received would warrant the commendations of one and all.

WATER.

As regards our water system, this is undeniably one of the most satisfactory subjects we are called upon to discuss, for upon its condition depends in no small measure the health of any community, and certainly with the endowment which we had received from nature it needed naught but man's co-operative skill to give us one of the purest and most abundant distributions of aqua vitae to be found in the world. The constant excavations which were formerly so necessary in repairing the old aqueduct pipes were, in my opinion, to say nothing of the great inconvenience resulting to one and another in different parts of the city, no promoter of the general healthfulness.

The continued use of the present high pressure has proved its effective capacities in every particular, and it would seem that no exigency could be of such stupendous gravity as to deteriorate in the slightest degree the force it is known to possess. There is a uniform rate of taxation conformed to by the commissioners, the qualifications being in proportion to the quantity consumed. Total receipts for water rates for the year ending December 31, 1895, were $30,516.97.

Of course this revenue is considerably lessened owing to the withdrawal from use of the Frank Jones Brewing Co., who at a great expense by means of suitable springs at no great distance, have built a standpipe and now force the water to their large manufactories and so own and control a plentiful supply.

Current expenses for the year ending December 31, 1895, $29,538.05. The citizens of Portsmouth are indebted in no small measure to Messrs. Page, Farrington, and Broughton for the perfect construction of this superb water system.

SCHOOLS AND SCHOOL-HOUSES.

Generally speaking, our schoolhouses are at present in an exceedingly good condition. During the past year the High school has received some necessary repairs; new floors have been laid, the walls retouched, and the building repainted both inside and out; but in very cold weather the heat is hardly sufficient. If an extra furnace could be placed under the three rooms in the annex, so that on extreme days the steam apparatus could be used exclusively for the main building, that difficulty would be remedied and would in the end from an economical standpoint prove, I think, a wise expenditure, for the continual forcing of a steam plant by unusually high pressure not only wastes fuel but is a constant wear on the boiler. The surroundings of the Farragut call for speedy attention and action; there are neither sidewalks nor crosswalks, and it is especially essential that the entrance to a building where so many cross and recross the threshold each day should be cleanly and easy of access in all weathers; and at the Cabot street building, which has been recently renovated, extra sanitary accommodations are needed on the second floor for the use of the kindergarten department.

There are now employed by the city forty-four regular teachers and at the present time there are twelve (the majority graduates of our High school) who are receiving a preparatory course at the Training school connected with the Farragut.

There were registered during the year ending December

31, 1895, 1,472 different pupils, of whom 58 were non-residents. The total amount of the orders on the city treasurer drawn by the school department for the year ending December 31, 1895, was $31,705.57, divided as follows:

Salaries of superintendent and teachers,	$24,433.02
Salaries of janitors,	2,540.00
Extra for cleaning,	24.30
Fuel,	1,760.83
Janitors' supplies,	122.06
Textbooks and school supplies,	2,063.04
Printing,	176.45
Miscellaneous,	585.87

Total receipts for the year ending December 31, 1895, $29,379.28, as follows:

Appropriations,	$27,000.00
Literary fund,	1,115.52
Tuition non-resident pupils,	900.72
Dog licenses, balance,	293.04
Mary Clark fund, interest,	70.00

It seems to me that when we consider this portion of our expenses we should not only reflect upon the present outlay of money, but also upon the future advancement and prosperity which will result from its judicious usage, for it is upon the children of today that our country must depend for her future progress and success, and only by instilling into their minds those lofty principles of integrity and loyalty, which is the aim of our present public school system, will we continue to be looked upon by the nations of the earth as a noble people and a happy land.

It gives me great pleasure to know that our schools are striving for an average rank among the best, superintendent and teachers being heartily co-operative in every effort towards that high ideal which constitutes our modern education, and in my opinion they should in no wise be hampered in the culmination of any and all discreet methods for the intellectual and moral elevation of the young of our city.

CITY FARM.

Should I attempt any protracted discussion on this subject it would be but a reiteration of sentiments I introduced in my previous address. Yet I think I may be pardoned if I emphasize my former statements and at the same time, perhaps a short explanation would be practicable. There are two divisions made as regards the care of our needy, one by the city, and the other by the county; any man who for seven consecutive years has paid a tax as a resident of this city comes with his family, if he has any, under the first specification; all others are under the direct supervision of the second. Now, while I would in no wise depreciate any and all efforts to alleviate destitution exerted by the county, yet I firmly believe there are not a few cases where a natural horror of the loneliness, which in age and infirmity particularly follows removal from customary surroundings, would prevent many worthy sufferers from allowing their condition to be known.

There are at present six who are being cared for at the city farm. The house is in a good condition, comfortable and well managed, but as I have previously suggested, if a portion of the farm land could be disposed of as building lots, would not the material lessening of expenses resulting from the same, together with the benefit to be derived from this increase of taxable property, render this advisable? But under no considerations would I now or at any future time advocate the sale of the buildings, unless others equally suitable could be first erected. I think we are as free from actual poverty as any locality in the land, yet the poor are always with us, and although these conceptions of mine may seem crude and merely the result of philanthropic principles, yet my convictions in respect to this particular subject are sincere and I trust may be considered worthy of more than a passing thought.

FINAL.

Although our views may not coincide politically, yet we are all aiming for the same cause; the good of our citizens, each contending for a universal end, the prosperity of our city, and this can in no way be successfully accomplished except by the united, persistent efforts of each and every member of this city government.

There used to be no unnecessary expenditures. Our first consideration must be economy.

The disbursements should, if possible, never exceed the appropriations; of course there may be certain exigencies which none of us can foresee, but these should always be the exception and not the general rule. Whether Democrat or Republican, public welfare should never be disregarded, nor should partisan principles ever interfere with clear, sound judgment. In concluding I wish to most cordially thank the retiring board for the kindly feelings they have manifested, and the amicable relations which have characterized our meetings during the past months.

I can prove my gratitude in no sincerer manner than by expressing an earnest desire that in the meetings of their successors in the weeks which are to come, a like degree of friendliness may at all times be maintained. Thus will we, as a body, steadily increase in power, and as individuals be continually actuated to renewed activity, ever mindful of that unseen help which never fails.

REPORT

OF THE

BOARD OF WATER COMMISSIONERS.

To the City Council of the City of Portsmouth:

The water commissioners hereby submit their sixth annual report for your consideration.

During the past year the plant of the waterworks has met with no mishap, and has been carefully maintained in a state of high efficiency. The running expenses have been kept down rigidly to a point consistent with thorough administration.

The plant was thoroughly examined by an expert civil engineer last May, and his report submitted to you as requested.

Eleven hundred feet of services have been relaid, and three hundred feet of two-inch pipe relaid on Noble's Island.

Thirty-five new services have been put in, and two hundred feet of two-inch pipe extended on Bartlett street. The extension of Lincoln avenue to Middle street necessitated laying nine hundred feet of six-inch pipe from Union to Middle streets, and setting one new hydrant.

The board again requests that some satisfactory arrangement be made insuring an annual rental to the water department for fire hydrant service and would suggest that a special committee from the board of Aldermen be appointed to confer with the water commissioners upon the matter.

The total indebtedness of the waterworks remains as before, $325,000, bearing interest at the rate of 4 per cent.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

To the Honorable Mayor and Board of Aldermen:

We have the honor to submit for your consideration the first annual report of the Board of Health:

The work done by the board during the past year has been somewhat different from that in previous years.

It was deemed advisable at the outset to do the work that came to us in a systematic manner, keeping a record of work done, also localities where it was done. Early in the year the work increased to such an extent that it was found impracticable to attend to it at the residences of the members, as has heretofore been the custom, and we applied to your honorable board for a suitable office, which was granted us in Franklin block. Office hours were at once established from 9 to 10 a. m. daily, at which time some member of the board has been present to attend personally to what complaints might come before it.

The regular meetings of the board have occurred on the second and last Fridays of each month, and special meetings have been held repeatedly throughout the year, as occasions required. The work of the board has increased three fold over the preceding year.

Early in the year complaints came to us against the condition of Puddle dock, and the board started a petition among the abutters, with a view of having it filled in. After some difficulty and with the help of your board, we succeeded in beginning a slow method of filling at the upper end.

During the summer months the flats of the South mill pond, during the middle of the day when the sun lay upon them, became a source of annoyance and it was found necessary to employ a man to operate the gates, so that the flats were kept covered with water during the day and the water allowed to run out during the night hours.

SEWERS.

During the year the board have petitioned for several sewers, which you have given us. There have been some forty catch basins in the city repeatedly complained of to us, and on investigation we found that they were without traps and acted as vent pipes to our sewers, so that much odor came from them.

Many householders have tapped and entered the sewers of which this board has no record. We believe that much expense might be saved, as well as aiding to perfect our sewerage system, if each year certain qualified men were licensed to tap and enter house drains into our main sewers and prohibit any one except these men to make any opening in the main drains.

Three cases have come to our notice where sewerage enters directly into our catch basins, three more where the main drains had been tapped by incompetent persons and cracked, allowing a leakage, and others where a hole had been cut on the underside of the drain.

On June 11 we received the following resolution from your board:

June 11, 1896.

Resolved, that the Board of Health be requested to see that the law in regard to parties entering sewers be enforced.

W. H. Moore, City Clerk.

For Mayor and Aldermen.

On receipt of a notice of this resolution this board issued the following notice:

BOARD OF HEALTH.

NOTICE.

Portsmouth, N. H.,.....189

You are hereby notified to do away with privy and vault in rear of house..... and enter public sewer on..... ..... according to City Ordinances and Public Statutes.

Per Order Board of Health,

F. S. Towle, M. D., Chairman.
L. Pope, Jr., M. D. V., Secretary.
E. B. Prime.

EXTRACTS FROM CHAPTER 108 OF THE PUBLIC STATUTES:

SECTION 8. No person shall occupy, lease to any other person, or permit any other person to occupy, a building or any part of a building, within the compact part of a city or town as a dwelling-house, office, store, shop, or sleeping apartment, unless such buildings shall be provided with suitable privies and vaults, properly ventilated and constructed and kept in proper sanitary condition, and in case of occupancy as a dwelling-house, unless it shall be provided with suitable drains or sewers for conveying the sink water away from the premises into some public sewer, if there be one within one hundred feet thereof, and, if not, for conveying it away underground, or in some other way that will not be offensive.

SECTION 11. The Health Officers may, in writing, order the discontinuance of any such nuisance; and may order that a privy within one hundred feet of a sewer shall be connected therewith. If any person shall continue the nuisance after such order from the Health Officers, or shall neglect to comply with an order made under the provisions of this section, he shall be fined not exceeding $10.00 for each day of such continuance or neglect.

CITY OF PORTSMOUTH, NEW HAMPSHIRE,
June 11, 1896.

Resolved, That the Board of Health be requested to see that the law in regard to parties entering sewers be enforced.

W. H. MOORE, City Clerk,
For Mayor and Board of Aldermen.

The board then began a house to house inspection, serving the above notice, naming date, number of house, owner and giving a specified limit of time in which to complete the work on all owners of property not connected with the main sewer or who had a privy and vault on the premises.

These notices were served on owners of property on Pleasant, Marcy, State, Court, Warren, Fleet, and Hill streets. As work in other directions increased so rapidly, we were obliged to abandon this system for a time when cold weather set in and it was deemed advisable to discontinue the regular inspection until the opening of the ground in the early spring, at which time we shall vigorously resume the regular work.

The board would be much pleased to see every street in the city supplied with a proper sewer, but realize the immensity of the undertaking, and it is much gratified with the progress made during the last year. This board would, however, earnestly recommend that the collection of a percentage for entering sewers be abolished.

Many people feel it an injustice to be compelled to pay for entering a sewer that their property has already been taxed to help construct. The expense of putting in plumbing is no little burden to many owners of property, and when this improvement is forced upon them by the action of this board, the increase in expense due to the percentage is often so great as to cause what was intended as a benefit, to become a hardship.

This question of percentage on the valuation of property has been frequently used as an excuse that action be deferred, until the owner becomes better able financially to bear the expense, and in many cases has operated to the detriment and delay of much needed improvement.

PLUMBING.

In the early commencement of the work in the spring we found that we were often hampered greatly in getting a sanitary job of plumbing in many cases, owing to the fact that the plumbers in bidding on a job to secure a customer were often obliged to overlook very important things and by removing the old privy and vault to be replaced by the new plumbed closet we had not only abated a nuisance by doing away with the privy and vault but had before us another still more detrimental to public health than was the first; we in consequence visited other cities where plumbing regulations were in use and finally adopted those of the city of Manchester as best adapted for our city. We placed them before you for your acceptance, and they were adopted. We have now a system which insures uniform work throughout the city, making the plumbers responsible and which must eventually greatly aid the good health of the city.

The inspector was not given us until September, which delayed our work much but which has been completed since.

At first we experienced some difficulty in putting the regulations into operation, but with few exceptions the relation between the master plumbers of the city and this board has been most harmonious.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES.

From January, 1896, to January, 1897, there have been reported to this board by physicians one hundred and forty-five cases of contagious disease :

Diphtheria,	49 cases,	10 deaths.
Scarlet fever,	35 "	1 "
Membranous croup,	4 "
Measles,	49 "
Typhoid fever,	7 "	2 "
Small pox,	1 "
Totals,	145	13

Diphtheria has occurred throughout the city, generally distributed and with few exceptions of a mild type. At the close of last year the Gravelly Ridge school-house was closed, owing to diphtheria existing in the neighborhood. In March a death occurring from this disease, in which some fifty persons had been exposed to the contagion, the school-houses were at once visited and all children having colds or in any way not well were sent home and notices given the teachers to send home any child with a cold at once and notify this board of their action. Soon after, another case breaking out in a child attending the Gravelly Ridge school, it was again ordered closed, disinfected and opened after an interval of a few days. In the fall diphtheria being again quite prevalent throughout the city, notice was sent, asking the superintendent of schools to send home any and all children with sore throats and to notify this board of the name and address of the pupil so treated, no child to be allowed to return without a permit from the board of health. These children were visited by the city physician and a diagnosis made. From time to time children attending the schools in the central districts have been examined by order of this board.

Arrangements were made with the Boston Board of Health, whereby cultures taken from suspicious cases might be examined and so aid in an early diagnosis.

Since that time we have parties in our own state attending to this work under the supervision of the state board.

The board has furnished some diptheritic anti-toxine to be used where desired.

Membranous croup, which will be considered under this head, has occurred, but usually in complication with well marked cases of diphtheria.

Scarlet fever and measles have occurred throughout the city at different times, but to a less degree than the preceding.

SMALL POX.

On Dec. 8, 1896, a case of small pox was reported in a house owned by the Boston & Maine R. R., and occupied by Mr. Armstrong's company.

On Dec. 9 we were requested to remove patient at once. We searched for a suitable building but were unable to find any place desirable and applied to your board, not willing to take the responsibility wholly on ourselves.

You gave us the use of the Bridewell at the City farm and we at once began operations to furnish it and make it comfortable. This action was soon opposed by the overseers of the poor and we were obliged to abandon this project and look elsewhere. While this building was being furnished, a portion of this board, fearing the removal of the patient to this quarter would cause much opposition, were actively in search of property which would answer the purpose, not only in this case but in the future, and give to the city for a reasonable sum a permanent quarantine hospital. In consequence the Shea property was purchased, a building in good repair containing six rooms on a private road and isolated one quarter mile from the nearest dwelling.

The patient was removed there and discharged Dec. 31, convalescent, the hospital being afterwards disinfected and a permanent resident found to occupy the premises.

The non-spread of contagious diseases throughout the city can be attributed to the strict quarantine maintained, with the most thorough disinfection of premises where they have occurred and the destroying of everything in the sick-room that was difficult to disinfect.

We would say that in the control of contagion in our schools we have been greatly assisted by Supt. J. C. Simpson and the teachers in the different schools, who have earnestly co-operated with us and put into immediate operation any suggestion we have made.

DOMESTIC ANIMALS.

During the early part of the month of March the board of health of the city of Lynn required that all cows furnishing milk to that city should pass the tuberculin test. As a large amount of milk goes from Portsmouth and vicinity to that city, many cows were tested and it was reported to this board that cows not passing the test were sold to our local milk men. Although this created much agitation it was not deemed advisable to take any action in the matter until the State Board of Cattle Commissioners did.

During the year seven horses have been ordered killed, affected with glanders, four cows affected with tuberculosis and three pigs suffering with swine cholera.

There have been many cases of dead animals which this board has been called upon to dispose of. The city's drinking fountains have been twice disinfected, following a suspicious case which had used them.

There have been thirty-two pigs removed from the compact part of the city. Owing to the fact that so many pigs have been removed from the central part of the city, swill, offal, etc., have been deposited in the barrels for the collector of ashes, as they have no other means of disposition.

The contents of these barrels, when carried and left on one of our dumping grounds, repeatedly have acted as a nuisance and have had to be removed. We would saggest that the collection of swill, offal, and kitchen waste be let out by contract as is the collection of ashes.

As the amount of swill collected would be sufficient to keep a large number of swine at a distance from the city, the expense to the city need not be very great.

Several complaints against hens have come before us, but as they have usually been against the noise, the matter has been placed in the hands of the police authorities.

SUMMARY.

Vaults and privies inspected,		562
Yards and alleys	"	91
Cellars	"	124
Tenements	"	24
Sink drains	"	72
Dumps	"	32 times.
Catch basins reported to committee on sewers,		42
Rags, papers, and rubbish ordered removed,		17 cases.

Soaperies and slaughter houses inspected,	3
Dead animals cared for,	6
Families warned not to throw rubbish in the street,	24
Animals killed as dangerous to public health,	14
Pigs removed from the compact part of the city,	32
Contagious and infectious diseases reported,	145
Nuisances not otherwise classified,	29

In the majority of houses where diphtheria has occurred defective drains have been found.

All houses disinfected where contagious or infectious diseases existed.

To conclude, we believe that the board of health should be elected for the term of three years, one member being chosen for the full term, one for two years, and one for one year. In this way the board would consist always of two members who were familiar with the work and one who would be elected each year.

Each new board that has hitherto been elected, has been ignorant for many months of the duties required of its members, therefore causing a marked delay.

REPORT OF THE SANITARY CONDITION OF THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

To the Board of Health:

GENTLEMEN: By order of the Board of Health, I have examined the plumbing work in the several school-houses in the city, and submit the following report:

The High school I find in a sanitary condition.

The Farragut school-house has a flaw in cast-iron pipe running from the sewer through the building and into the chimney, which is against the rules and regulations of all sanitary work. I could not test the work, for the reason of not being able to get at the chimney and to plug the same. I would recommend removal of the pipe from the chimney and placing it through the roof.

The Whipple school-house has the Smead system closet. At times there is an odor from them, and also from the urinals, which are dry urinals and flushed with hose by the janitor. The vent pipes from the wash bowls do not go through the roof, causing danger of siphonage. I would recommend urinals and closets to flush by water, and to change the waste pipes now running into Summer street sewer to the sewer on State street.

The Cabot Street school-house is in a bad condition. From the fact of the boys not having a urinal, the closets are used for that purpose, which causes a bad odor. I would recommend urinals flushed by water for the boys.

The Haven school-house plumbing is in good condition, but it is situated in an addition which badly needs ventilation. I should recommend running an 18-inch galvanized iron shaft from the roof of the addition above the roof of the main building, for ventilation.

The Franklin school-house has privies outside the building. The city is connecting the building with the sewer for the purpose of putting in water-closets.

Respectfully submitted:

E. E. MCINTIRE,
Inspector of Plumbing.

Approved.

REPORT OF INSPECTOR OF PLUMBING.

To the Board of Health:

GENTLEMEN: I herewith submit my report for the three months ending December 31.

My first duty, after taking the oath of office, was to call a meeting of the master plumbers of the city, that they might have a better understanding of the rules and regulations adopted by the city councils. The meeting was attended by every master plumber in the city, and was very interesting and instructive.

There have been forty notices filed for new plumbing work and six for replacements or extension of old work, all of which have been granted and certificates issued.

Your order to have the school-houses in the city tested as to the sanitary condition of the plumbing has been complied with, as my report to the Board of Health will show.

The plumbing in the Haven school-house, as ordered by your board, has been put in a sanitary condition since writing my report on the condition of school-houses.

The work at the Franklin school-house is near completion. It consists of two latrines for the girls and two latrines and slate urinal for the boys, all situated in the basement of the building, separated from each other from school-room to the basement. After the work is complete, the privies in the rear of the school-house will be discontinued.

There have been many evils remedied, especially in the line of refrigerators. To my mind, running a waste pipe from a refrigerator to a sewer direct is one of the most unsanitary evils that can be imagined, and should be called to the attention of the public. Many times there is an odor in the refrigerator that can be traced directly to the sewer. If no other drainage can be had, the waste pipe should drain into a pan, and the pipe trapped from the pan to the sewer.

REPORT OF THE INSPECTORS OF THE HARBOR OF THE PISCATAQUA.

To the Honorable Mayor and Board of Aldermen:

As health officers for the Harbor of the Piscataqua, we would say that very little has been found necessary to do.

Some nuisances have existed upon the shores, which we have been called upon to remove. Orders have been issued and sent to us from time to time from the treasury department, but owing to the fact that the seaport is not much used for foreign services, few vessels are required to be inspected, or to anchor at quarantine lines.

CHIEF ENGINEER'S REPORT.

To the Honorable Board of Mayor and Aldermen:

GENTLEMEN:—In accordance with the ordinance governing the fire department, I have the honor to present the annual report of the operations, condition, and organization, together with a list of the hydrants, reservoirs, fire-alarm boxes, and their location, for the year ending December 31, 1896:

FIRE-ALARMS.

The department has responded to twenty-three regular alarms; five were for calls for assistance out of town, and the chemical to sixteen still alarms. This is the greatest number of calls for any one year that the department has responded to.

ORGANIZATION.

The department consists of one hundred and ten men, as follows: Permanent force, two men; one chief, four assistants, one clerk, one superintendent of fire-alarm telegraph, four engineers, three stokers, six drivers, eighty-eight hose and ladder men. When the improvements now under way at the central station are completed, and the appointment of four permanent men, and the addition of five horses, to be kept in the station at all times, are made, I think the number of men can be reduced somewhat, and not impair the efficiency of the department in the least.

APPARATUS.

The apparatus consists of four steam fire engines (one on reserve), one double-tank (Holloway) chemical engine, three hose wagons, two hose sleds, one hook and ladder truck, one supply wagon, all in good condition; two second-hand hose reels, one second-hand hook and ladder truck. Hose wagons No. 2 and No. 3, when the finances will allow it, should be repainted, as they are sadly in need of it.

HOSE.

We have in service at the present time 10,000 feet of 2½-inch cotton hose, rubber lined. During the past year there has been condemned 600 feet; 350 feet of this was so badly burned at the Universalist church fire as to be entirely worthless. We also have on hand 1,000 feet of new hose, which has never been wet, which was purchased during the year; and also 200 feet of new rubber hose for the chemical, purchased at the same time, and has never been used.

ENGINE HOUSES.

The engine houses are in fair condition. The Hanover street house should receive some slight repairs the coming year, such as painting, patching the ceiling where the plastering has fallen off; and the engine house on Court street, occupied by the Colonel Sise, No. 2, should also receive some slight repairs. The engine house occupied by Kearsarge, No. 3, and the Hook and Ladder truck (now undergoing alterations for the quick hitch), will, when completed, be what the city should have had years ago—the ability to get to fires in their early stages, for minutes at the beginning are worth thousands of dollars oftentimes. The house will have accommodations for five horses, nice comfortable sleeping quarters for the permanent men on the second floor, and a large loafing room for the two companies, together with bath-room and water-closet on same floor.

WATER SUPPLY.

The reservoirs are in good condition and always supplied with water, but the covering of the Madison street reservoir should be repaired. The hydrants, to the number of 149, are now in good condition, and were all opened last fall and all found ready for instant use. There have been added during the year two hydrants. It is very essential that the hydrants should be opened and overhauled at least twice every year. With the steamers supplied with hydrant suction and having been thoroughly and successfully tried with good results, it is my belief that the water supply would be adequate for any emergency that might arise.

EXPENDITURES.

The expenditures for the department for the year amount to $15,408.55. Of this amount, $3,223.83 was paid out on the improvements at the central fire station; the balance, $12,184.72, was spent for the purchase of new hose, supplies, and the running expenses of the department. There was purchased 1,000 feet of linen hose, 200 feet of chemical hose, play pipes, lanterns, etc., and about 1,500 feet of hose repaired (part of which was damaged at the Universalist church fire) during the year.

HORSES.

The expense of hiring horses to haul the apparatus to fires the past year has been very heavy, owing to the large number of alarms we have had. But when the system of the quick hitch is ready, a great saving of horse hire will be the result. The chemical horses owned by the department have fulfilled all required of them, but it will soon be necessary to replace one of them with a new one.

FIRE-ALARM TELEGRAPH.

This branch of the service has received a great deal of careful attention the past year through the earnest efforts of the superintendent, who has tried to have the alarm in perfect working order at all times. There have been added during the year two new fire alarm boxes, numbered 8 and 78. Box 8 is to be used for alarms when assistance is wanted out of town. The expense of putting in this box has already been saved.

CONCLUSION.

In closing this report, I respectfully thank his honor, the mayor, and members of the city government for the interest taken by them in the welfare of this department. To my associates in the board of engineers, and to all officers and members of the department, I hereby tender my sincere thanks for the prompt and thorough manner in which they have performed their duties during the past year.

Very respectfully submitted,

JOHN D. RANDALL,
Chief Engineer.

DIRECTIONS.

Alarms are to be given from the box nearest the fire.

Open the box and pull the hook all the way down, and let go.

After giving the alarm, remain by the box, if possible, so as to direct the fireman to the exact locality of the fire.

Second alarms for the same fire will be given only by one of the engineers.

Never open the box or touch the apparatus except in case of fire.

Never sound the alarm for a fire seen at a distance; be reasonably sure there is a fire before sounding the alarm.

Never let the key go out of your possession, except to some responsible person, to give an alarm of fire; and be sure the key is returned.

The key cannot be taken from the box except by an engineer.

If you remove from your house or place of business, return the key to any member of the board of engineers.

All citizens are requested to inform themselves where the keys to the boxes are kept.

The companies will respond to alarms of fire given from boxes according to orders given by the chief engineer.

When an alarm of fire is given, all companies not responding will remain at their respective houses thirty minutes, unless dismissed by telegraph signal, which is as follows: Three blows signify that the fire is under control, and companies not in attendance will be dismissed.

Cambridge time will be struck each day at 12:30, on the bell of the North church, from W. I. Trafton's jewelry store. One stroke at any other time means nothing.

In case a fire is only in a chimney, or is one that in the judgment of the discoverer may be easily extinguished without the aid of the entire fire department, the chemical engine may be promptly summoned by a message to the police station, or the house of the chief engineer, from one of the following telephone stations:

CITY SOLICITOR'S REPORT.

To the City Councils:

GENTLEMEN:—I have the honor to offer for your acceptance, my annual report as city solicitor, for the year ending December 31, 1896.

The claims of Mark H. Wentworth, Esq., and Miss Susan Wentworth have been settled.

The action for damages brought against the city by the administrator of Thomas Leahey, for injuries resulting fatally from an accident which occurred in a trench during the construction of the South Mill Pond sewer, has been discontinued without cost to the city.

Rotman v. Page is an action brought in the supreme court against Mr. Page, ex-collector of taxes, claiming damages for injury to a stock of goods which were taxed to the Boston Clothing company, so called, a part of which our vigilant ex-collector seized and sold for two years' taxes due, after an alleged sale of an attempt to get the goods out of the state. The case will be decided at the approaching January term of Court, and I predict a decision favorable to the city.

Urch v. City of Portsmouth and Whidden v. City Physician Cheever, are the only cases now pending in the supreme court. I have no apprehension of a decision adverse to the city in either case.

The police department of the city is efficiently conducted and has called upon the city solicitor for but little professional service except in the issuing of warrants for the arrest of offenders.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS E. O. MARVIN,
City Solicitor.

Dec. 31, 1896.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

To the Board of Instruction, Portsmouth, N. H.:

Gentlemen: I have the honor to present my fifth annual report as superintendent of the schools of Portsmouth. The report is the eleventh in the series of annual reports from this office.

It is my intention to sum up the most striking events of the year now past, to note progress in lines marked out, and to make such suggestions and recommendations as the facts seem to warrant with the end of placing you, and through you our citizens generally, in closer touch with the actual conditions of the school department. This end will be aided by the various reports of special instructors and the usual tables of statistics, which will be found annexed.

From all the indications that come to me, I infer a general feeling of satisfaction among the people with the condition and efficiency of the schools. I could wish, however, that this confidence rested on a firmer basis of knowledge and understanding gained from actual investigation. Most of the friction that comes from the conflicting claims of home and school has its source in the lack of appreciation of the aims and purposes, the needs and actual conditions, that each should feel for the other. I commend to the people of our city the example of some of the more progressive communities in a neighboring state in the formation of education societies with the avowed purpose of putting the parents and friends of the public schools into more sympathetic relations with their broadened functions, and of making possible a clearer judgment of their success or failure.

SCHOLARS.

At the end of the year 1896, there were enrolled in the public schools 1,328 pupils. These were distributed among the different years of the school course as follows:

High	XIII	42
	XII	38
	XI	62
	X	67
Grammar	IX	72
	VIII	81
	VII	84
	VI	102
	V	132
Primary	IV	116
	III	101
	II	154
	I	217
Kindergarten		56

These children were distributed in ten school buildings and occupied thirty-two school rooms outside the High school. The smallest class was twelve at the Lafayette suburban, and the largest, forty-nine in the fifth grade of the Whipple. Ten schools had classes of forty or over.

During the fall term the attendance was much broken by the presence of diphtheria and scarlet fever in the city, and though the diseases did not become in any sense epidemic, caution on the part of parents kept many from the schools. Acting under the suggestion of the board of health, children suspected of disease or of being especially liable to contagion were excluded from school.

The chairman of the board of health made many visits of inspection to the various schools and rigid precautionary measures were established. Thanks to this promptness and energy, the number of reported cases began to lessen and at the end of the term the danger of an epidemic had passed.

The city of Boston has lately adopted a plan of daily inspection of the school children by salaried physicians, who do not pretend to treat cases found but refer them to family physician, hospital, or dispensary. The number of children found afflicted with contagious diseases and excluded from school before the most contagious stage was reached is something surprising, and will warrant our careful consideration of a like plan.

It is the duty of the schools in the broadened idea of their function to care to the best of their ability for the physical and moral, as well as the mental, health of the children, and these precautions would seem to be within the range of our powers.

I am glad to be able to report a slight decrease in the record of tardiness. We are still very lax in this respect. Neither parents nor schools feel as keenly as they should the importance of the formation of the habit of promptness. Of course there must always be an inevitable percentage of legitimate tardiness, but a standard should be set, there should be a feeling abroad in the homes and the schools that the expectation is promptness and that any failure from this demands full and speedy justification. I should feel perfectly satisfied, if I could be sure of a growing sentiment in this direction and could be able year by year to report a slight decrease in the number of tardinesses. We have made a substantial gain in comparison with years past, and as the evil seems old and long rooted in our system, we need the more to use our best efforts to crowd it out. The number of tardinesses for several years past is as follows: 1896, 1,025; 1895, 1,295; 1894, 1,211; 1893, 1,357; 1892, 1,363; 1891, 1,153; 1890, 1,510; 1889, 2,014; 1888, 3,745; 1887, 4,821; 1886, 5,495; 1885, 8,044.

Although not very systematic, our care of truancy has been fairly effective, more so than in years past as it seems to me. When once a child has been enrolled in school his career has been closely watched and his attendance secured. The teachers have been alert and prompt, the truant officers ready and effective, and the police commission unwavering in their support to every measure for the enforcement of the law.

Where we are not entirely sure is in the attendance of children who have never been enrolled and whose names we have only through the school census. Some of these cases—perhaps all—receive attention, but no one is entirely confident. Another year we propose to remedy this. The character of our population and the absence of any manufacturing that calls for the employment of children within school age, give us a problem much more simple than falls to the lot of many cities. Attention of parents and guardians is called to the following extract from the Public Statutes:

"Sect. 14. Every person having the custody and control of a child between the ages of eight and sixteen years, residing in a school district in which a public school is annually taught, shall cause such child to attend the public school for twelve weeks at least in every year, six weeks at least of which shall be consecutive, unless the child shall be excused by the school board of the district because his physical or mental condition is such as to prevent his attendance at school for the period required, or because he was instructed in a private school for at least twelve weeks during the year in the common English branches or, having acquired those branches, in other more advanced studies.

Sect. 15. Any person who does not comply with the requirements of the preceding section shall forfeit ten dollars for the first offense and twenty dollars for every subsequent offense, for the use of the district."

In a prosecution under this act our municipal court well ruled that every parent who chose to educate his child in any other way than by the medium of the public schools, thereby took upon himself the responsibility, if called upon, of accounting to the school board for the quantity and quality of that instruction.

TRANSPORTATION OF SCHOLARS.

At the beginning of the fall term it was found that the Plains school would have an enrollment of but eight scholars. It was decided to close the school and furnish transportation to the Whipple and Cabot school for these pupils. The plan has given satisfaction. The children are taken from their homes in a covered vehicle and returned at night. There is some economy in expense under the present arrangement, though the best interests of the children were the ruling consideration. At the Lafayette school we have only twelve scholars, and the school is fast degenerating into the condition incident to so small a number. The problem of transportation here is complicated by the fact that the children are scattered over a large area, on different roads and at long distances, so that it is almost impossible to collect them. We shall here be obliged to make the best of existing circumstances.

TEACHERS.

Our corps of teachers has suffered about the same change as usual, in spite of the popular impression that our whole force was leaving us. The fact that most of the resignations came in term time and involved principals of schools, attracted attention, while at the same time it escaped notice that at the annual election in July almost no changes were made. It may be of interest to recite the exact terms of our contract with the teachers, their obligations to us and ours to them, as to some the present arrangement seems to give all the advantage to the teacher who may stay or go as seems most advantageous. Under our rules, teachers are elected annually in the month of July. At that time every contract expires and the city is without teachers. The fact of having served the previous year raises only a moral presumption of re-election. If an election is accepted the teacher agrees to give one month's notice of intention to resign, and the school board reserves the right to discharge without notice, either with or without cause. Now whatever sentimental considerations affect the retention or dismissal of a teacher, this is the statement of the actual facts, from which it appears that whatever advantage there may be in this situation, it accrues to the city. Now an agreement to remain for the entire year would have to be met on the side of the board by an agreement to retain, and the services of a teacher rendered sulky and discontented by inability to accept a more lucrative position elsewhere would hardly be worth while retaining. It seems to me that any change from the present system proposes at least as much loss as gain. I subjoin the number of resignations each year for several years past: 1896, 5; 1895, 6; 1894, 8; 1893, 6; 1892, 2; 1891, 3; 1890, 7; 1889, 7; 1888, 8; 1887, 10.

Following is a list of the different changes for the year past:

Resignations.—

Lilla Briant, Whipple, June.
Lyle D. Glovier, Farragut, August.
Irving H. Upton, High, October.
John Gault, Haven, October.
Effie M. Philbrook, Haven, December.

Transfers.—

Harriet A. Seavey, Farragut to Whipple, July.
Abbie A. Rollins, Lafayette to Farragut, September.
John H. Bartlett, Whipple to High, October.

Appointments.—

Annie L. McDonough, Lafayette, September.
John L. Mitchell, Whipple, December.
Alvah H. M. Curtis, Haven, December.

Leave of absence.—

Frances A. Mathes, High, January to July.
Edith G. Brewster, Kindergarten, May to July.

Temporary teachers.—

Julia A. Farwell, High, January to July.
J. M. Russell, Whipple, October to December.
Louise S. Tuxbury, Kindergarten, May to July.

Admittted to training school.—

Jennie C. Hanscom, February.
Mabel K. Griffin, February.

Taken as a body, I am glad to be able to give unstinted words of commendation to our force of teachers. I believe them to be hard-working, enthusiastic, and anxious to improve. The great danger to teachers—as indeed to men of all professions—is what State Superintendent Shaeffer of Pennsylvania calls dying before they get ready to be buried.

I see no reason to think that we have many "dead" teachers with us. When a class of twenty-five teachers in addition to their school work and to their regular grade and general teachers' meetings, are willing under no more compulsion than an invitation, to meet two hours in each week for the study of botany, thinking thereby to better equip themselves for the requirements of their nature study, it can hardly be said that the limit of improvement and development has been reached in their case. For the present winter nearly all the teachers are meeting once a week for the study of advanced physical geography, with a view to broadening our instruction in this branch. These were the subjects that the need of the moment called for most. Another year we may take up a united investigation of some of the more advanced pedagogical problems.

At its May meeting the board in view of the new state laws voted to grant certificates of qualification based on inspection of work to teachers already in service; to recommend to all that they procure a state certificate under the provisions of the new law, and to require from all teachers hereafter employed either the possession of a state certificate or the gaining of one at the examination next following their election.

SCHOOL HOUSES.

The work in this line for the past year has been mainly in the nature of repairs. The rehousing of the schools, begun eight years ago, is practically complete. The fact that the schools at the Franklin, Spaulding, Lafayette, and Woodbury, five in all, are the only ones occupying the quarters of ten years ago, is proof that the undertaking has been throrough and extensive. Outside the four mentioned the older buildings in use have been so extensively rebuilt that they may be called new in all but name. Unless the city should experience a sudden growth, the expenses of this department should be small for many years to come.

In response to my recommendation in last year's report, the aldermanic committee on school houses promptly carried through that body a motion to lay a sidewalk at the Farragut School and to improve the approaches to that building. The execution of this plan, entrusted to the street department, met with the usual success attending the plans of that committee, and in spite of the efforts of the chairman of the committee on school houses nothing was done further than the carting of a few loads of brick to the spot, and the subsequent removal of what the children of the neighborhood did not see fit to appropriate as playthings for the summer vacation.

It is to be hoped that another board of aldermen may find time to attend to this long-talked-of matter. The Farragut school is really the best specimen of school architecture that we have and its aesthetic value should not be destroyed by its unkempt approaches.

The Lafayette school needs a thorough repairing to make it a good example of a modern country school. The connection of the Franklin school with the sewer will afford an opportunity to modernize the sanitaries in that building, for which plans are already laid. The committee on school houses of the city government has at all times been prompt, efficient, and in every way desirous of improving the condition of our buildings. It is a pleasure to be associated with such men.

TRAINING SCHOOL.

This institution was established solely for the purpose of procuring an improved supply of teachers and with no view whatever of giving a general preparation to teach to any who might choose to apply. In this sense it has never been considered an educational but rather an administrative part of our school system. Until within two years the number of applications seldom or never exceeded the places to be filled. Lately the number is two or three times as many as the accommodations will allow, and the question of selecting the ones we want begins to be vexing. Other cities have solved it by means of a competitive examination, but this plan of selection is not wholly to be commended. Thus far your committee have given preference to graduates of our own High school, and pressed still further have taken residents of the city first. While this may do as a general policy, circumstances can easily be conceived in which it would be necessary to depart from it or accept inferior and reject superior candidates. There has appeared in the discussion incident upon this selection evidence of a supposition on the part of the public, that the course in the Training school was intended to be open to all residents, in the same sense as the High school course, and a feeling that if this were not the case it should be so arranged. This is a question purely of policy and as such I submit it to your consideration, noting only in the latter event that compensation to the pupil teachers for any part of their work would no longer be allowable.

Within the school there has been no great change in purpose or plan. A class of seven will graduate in February next. We shall need the services of four at once. No graduate of the school who cares to teach is now without a position. Below is given a list of the graduates of the school and their present positions,

Names.	Year of Graduation.	Schools taught in Portsmouth.	Present position.
Eleanore O. Wiggin	1888	Peabody, Haven, Whipple.	Not teaching.

TRAINING SCHOOL REGULATIONS.

Section 1. Persons desiring to enter the Training school as pupil teachers shall make written application to the board of instruction for admission thereto, stating where they were educated and what experience, if any, they have had in teaching. The applications shall be referred to the committee on the Training school, who shall have the power to admit the applicants to the school.

Section 2. Candidates for admission must have completed the course in the Portsmouth High school, or an equivalent course, and may be required to furnish references as to character and scholarship. Pupil teachers may be admitted on the first of February or at the beginning of the fall term in each year.

Section 3. The number of pupil teachers constituting the training class shall be determined from time to time by the committee on the school.

Section 4. The course of instruction in the training department shall continue for three periods of five school months each. The first of these periods shall be regarded as probationary, and at its expiration leave to withdraw will be granted to those candidates whose success is not probable. A certificate shall be granted to those who complete the course.

Section 5. Any member of the training class who shall be elected teacher in any school of the city before completing the course of study shall, upon recommendation of the principal of the school and the superintendent, be entitled to a certificate.

Section 6. Pupils in the training class may be assigned by the superintendent, at his discretion, to serve as substitutes for other teachers.

Section 7. The course of study in the training class shall be prescribed by the superintendent and the principal of the school.

Section 8. Pupil teachers shall serve without compensation during the first term. They shall be paid at the rate of $10 per month during the second term and at the rate of $15 per month during the third term.

INSTRUCTION.

Under this head may properly be included all the agencies that go to make up the physical, moral, and intellectual development of the child so far as pertains to the school and the teacher's function. The idea of instruction has enlarged from merely hearing the performance of a set task to cover such explanations and assistance as the wise teachers might think proper to include and later to the conception that the proper business of school and teacher is not so much to do specific things for the child which he receives under the duress of command, as to furnish the opportunity and stimulus for his development in the best ways under the agency of his own activity. Sometimes it has seemed as if we were doing too much for the child, and again that we were leaving him to rely too much on his own unaided efforts, but on the whole I think our plan and purpose has been somewhere near the golden mean. Under this view we have ceased to recognize discipline and moral training as problems and ends separate from intellectual training but, considering education as a unit of progress, have striven to weld all our agencies and activities into one purpose toward the common goal of complete manhood.

Certain branches of our course of study I wish to treat slightly in detail. The criticism occasionally comes to me that in modern schools, not our own especially, the proficiency in spelling is not what it should be, that an examination of papers and oral tests show large numbers of mis-spelled words. I am very ready to grant to our critics that there are many mistakes and that a small proportion of them would be eliminated by better teaching, but I do want these critics to understand fairly what it is right for them to expect at different ages and grades. Probably there is no more onerous burden laid on the child in his school life than the learning to spell his mother tongue. It has even been estimated that the German child by virtue of his nearly phonetic language has an advantage of two years over his English speaking fellow. Now, plainly, in view of this enormous task, all we may expect is a certain degree of proficiency in each stage of school life, with a growth toward perfection. Plainly, too, what this reasonable degree of proficiency is to be considered, is matter of serious judgment based on careful observation and long experience, and is in no way to be determined by hasty conclusion. From the fact that in certain schools given words are mis-spelled it is not a fair inference that the spelling ability of that school is poor, or the instruction bad. A wider range of view is needed. The assertion, too, frequently met, that the old district school produced a better class of spellers than the schools of today, seems to me equally unfounded and illogical. Comparison in this case is generally made between the pupils of eighteen and twenty years in those schools and ten and twelve in our own. Spelling, again, was a kind of social diversion in those days, and legends of the champions have come down to us. An examination of the records of any town or city reveals an ability of spelling that steadily increases. Comparisons to be fair must have unequal conditions eliminated and while I am willing to confess to supreme dissatisfaction with the spelling in modern schools, I am ready to contend that it shows improvement.

I am glad to report that the group of studies made up of geography, science, and nature study is on a better basis than ever before, and while yet comparatively undeveloped along the new lines, gives promise of excellent results.

In reading and language especial attention has been given to composing and its recognition as a distinct process from the first year of school life. Many of our primary teachers have been working under the, to me erroneous, impression that four years' drill in the mechanical forms of language was necessary, before the expression of ideas might begin. Our plan of language instruction from first year through the High school might be briefly stated that the pupil should talk and write much under the inspiration of good models of literature and the world of nature, and that constructive language criticism should be carried along persistently but incidentally.

I call to your attention as a matter of interest the subject of vertical writing introduced with reported success into many New England cities. It is a matter with grave differences of opinion among the experts. From hygienic and psychological grounds its merits seem unanswerable. The opposition to it is based mainly on aesthetic consderations and the demand of speed. I refer you to the report of the supervisor of penmanship.

The matter of music has been before the board a number of times in a comparison of the different systems published for school use. Our music at the present time is good in reading by study and sight, but deficient in quality of tone, in rythm, and in the cultivation of an appreciative taste. Some progress has been made in these lines the past year but more is needed.

In conclusion allow me to express my appreciation of the loyal support at all times given to my undertakings by the teachers of the city, and to render thanks to your board for their generous and courteous treatment.

Respectfully submitted,

J. C. SIMPSON,

Superintendent of Schools.

Portsmouth, Dec. 31, 1896.

HIGH SCHOOL REPORT.

To the High School Committee, Portsmouth, N. H.:

Gentlemen: The following are the statistics for the year 1895-96.

Whole number enrolled,	210
Average number belonging,	187
Average daily attendance,	181
Per cent. of attendance,	96.84
Number not absent,	36
Instances of tardiness,	428

During the month of October, Mr. Irving H. Upton, having received a flattering offer as sub-master of the Roxbury High school, resigned his position as principal. Under his progressive management the school had grown in numbers and efficiency and with the general regret at his departure was mingled a thorough appreciation of his faithfulness and success.

The committee at once transferred to the vacant position Mr. John H. Bartlett, master of the Whipple school. Mr. Bartlett brings to this undertaking the record of the successful management of two other school in our city, and under his control the school moved on without the disturbance usually incident upon a change of masters.

The need of a seventh teacher having become imperative, Miss Mabel A. Manson was in July chosen to fill the position.

During the year the building has been wired and electric lights put in. The difficulty under which the drawing has always labored has been obviated by putting up a room in the old Peabody school, which has been made to afford ample and excellent accommodation.

It is intended before another school year to somewhat remodel the course of study with a view to further develop the department of modern languages and to provide a business course. We offer at present a better course in English than most schools of our class, about the average in Latin, Greek, history, and mathematics, but our science needs strengthening in some respects and our modern languages generally. These changes can be brought about with the present teaching force and without involving extra expenditure.

The business course should include stenography and typewriting for which an extra appropriation would be needed. It is not proposed that the introduction of these electives shall furnish a course in any way inferior in discipline, time, or required effort on the part of the pupil,but that it shall be coordinate in every sense. It is interesting to note that the high schools of other cities which have shown the most marked growth and evidence of public favor have offered courses based upon this plan. Twenty-five years ago the high school was for the few and its end to fit for college. To-day it exists for the many and to prepare them for the general purpose of life, and this broad distinction needs to be recognized in all plans for its advancement. I call your attention to a report of the principal and the usual statistics of graduation and admission, herewith submitted.

Respectfully,
J. C. SIMPSON,
Superintendent.

Mr. J. C. Simpson, Superintendent of Schools:

My Dear Sir. With reference to the condition of the High school as compared with that of former years my very short administration negatives any valuable statements.

I was transferred from the Whipple school to my present position very suddenly and unexpectedly, but was gratified to note at once that the naturalness and responsive co-operation of teacher and pupil which is sown in the kindergarten and cultivated throughout the nine grammar grades is not lost in the more mature years of high school culture. I am convinced, however, that in our school system, though widely known and praised, the weakest point in the correlation of studies and methods is the step from the ninth grade, grammar, to the first year, high. There should be no greater stride here than from the eighth to the ninth grade, grammar. I am not conscious of any magic touch by means of which a boy or girl mounts into some superior mental state between the June of his grammar school and the September of his high school. This gap, which causes not a few pupils to fall behind, and, after a discouraging struggle, leave school, can be remedied by bringing the high and grammar schools, and the teachers of said schools, into closer relation.

There is a tendency to err on both sides. The grammar pupil may have his instruction made so simple and easy that it does not foster mental independence and self-reliance. On the other hand, the danger is that the high school presupposes too great self-reliance, especially at the outset, and does not aid its pupils enough. With recitation periods of fifty minutes each not a small amount of time should be given to instructing and guiding the student to right methods and habits of study. This should be done substantially as much at the beginning of the high school as at the end of the grammar, then it may decrease gradually as the pupil becomes enabled to help himself. At no point in the course can all the time of the recitations be used profitably in merely ascertaining how much each pupil has learned by himself or from others.

Along this line of correlating the high and grammar school courses the text books used play an important part, as well as the method of instructing, and certain changes here are about to be made and others may well be considered.

Again, the so-called "nature work", or elementary science, of the grammar schools should be continued with the aid of a text book in a short course early in the first year, in such a way as to collect and apply the more fragmentary knowledge acquired in the grammar schools.

In the ninth grade declamations are required once a month, but after that practically nothing heretofore has been done in this most practical and important branch until the senior year. We are attempting to make this work a regular adjunct to the study of the English masterpieces by timely phonetic and elocutionary drill during each year of the entire course. This will have a beneficial effect upon the oral reading, and will thus aid materially in an appreciation of the literature. But, in addition to this and quite as important, is the discipline toward standing before hearers and presenting one's thoughts intelligently, whether in conversation, business, or on the platform.

We have introduced advanced physical geography, or "physiography", in the place of the old, dry, and too technical course in geology, a movement which is taking place in the more progressive schools of the country.

The introduction of certain or all of the branches commonly found in a "business" course, as elective studies in the English, or a new course, is receiving thoughtful consideration. We already have a course in commercial arithmetic which has been somewhat lengthened during the past year.

German in the senior year has long been a matter for discussion, but is undoubtedly a thing of the immediate future.

Since the accession of an additional teacher to our force some of these changes and advances can be made without any extra expense to the city, and will be made as soon as the right plan can be definitely formulated.

Electric lights have been put into the school building, and by this step the city has met a long felt want. No high school can do its whole work as it should be done in the crowded minutes of its daily sessions. Certain extra work with individual scholars, or classes, and teachers, is absolutely necessary, and other work could be made highly profitable. The opportunity is now afforded for any departure that may tend to the best interests of the school. And more vital than this, the necessity of studying with insufficient light on dark mornings is no longer working to the injury of the pupils' eyesight.

The school was presented by the graduating class of 1896 with two fine large photographs appropriately framed, one a view of the Rialto, the other of St. Mark's Square.

I feel to express my hearty appreciation of the welcome and support on the part of the assistant teachers, the wise and ready direction of the superintendent, and the cordial backing of an intelligent public.

Yours respectfully,

JOHN H. BARTLETT.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION TO THE HIGH SCHOOL.

The requirements for admission to the school are a certificate of promotion from one of the public grammar schools, or the successful passing of an examination. This examination will be held some time in June, 1897, the time to be advertised.

Candidates must offer the following subjects:

Arithmetic,
Algebra to Simultaneous Equations,
Book-keeping by single entry,
History of the United States,
Physiology,
Geography, including physical,
English Language,
Writing.

The examination in English will include grammar, spelling, and the reading of standard English literature. Candidates for 1897 will offer "Lady of the Lake" and "Ivanhoe", Irving's "Sketch Book", Longfellow's "Evangeline", Whittier's "Snow Bound." An acquaintance with drawing and music as conducted in the grammar schools is recommended, in order that these studies may be successfully prosecuted in course.

REPORT OF THE SUPERVISOR OF PENMANSHIP.

To Mr. J. C. Simpson, Superintendent of Schools :

Dear Sir. At your request I will give you a brief, but I think, quite favorable report, as a whole. Our primaries still begin with the pen at the middle of the first year, with I think very good results, still using the shorter course writing, not tracing books as formerly, these we sometime since discarded, as proving to be too much machine-like work. At one time there was quite a craze over them, nearly all systems having them introduced in the schools, but to-day I think they are generally discarded. A little tracing over a letter which the teacher might make with a pencil for a pupil while giving individual instruction to some that are a little hard to comprehend, is highly commendable. And a book that has a copy across the middle of the page is all right. That kind of a book we are still using to good advantage. There is a very perceptible improvement over last year with most of the classes, and by the close of the present school year we should expect to see some very good work from many of our pupils if more time could be devoted to drill in the various movement exercises, which we introduce, and upon which every one is so dependent in learning to write. We have always taken great pride in a uniform position of pupils at the desk, and the standard way of penholding. A few years ago we changed our position from right to a perfect front; in this position the pupil is allowed to rest both arms on the desk, with elbows at each corner, this giving a very firm and steady position. With desks of limited size there is moreover a slight disadvantage in this position, the book being placed diagonally across, but on the whole we consider it a decided advantage for we shall never have occasion to change again our position for any system of writing whatsoever. With regard to my private opinion of vertical writing, from a penman's standpoint merely, I am opposed. In the first place it detracts from a handwriting all true grace and beauty. Secondly, as far as I can ascertain, there has as yet been no demand for it in any commercial or business house throughout the country. In view of this fact, I confess it does seem to me a subject for our authorities to well consider. During the past year or more I have received from various publishing houses sets of vertical copy books. Some are more decent than others, if we could be permitted to use the word decent. I have recently visited some of the largest commercial schools and held private interviews with their principals and the leading penmen of these institutions and have a unanimous verdict against the vertical system. Moreover, they say that they never have had a single applicant from any bank or counting room in the country. The authors of our present system have not until very recently published any vertical copy books. Having just received a full set, I am fully convinced that they are as equally opposed to the fad as others. After examining these books I find them to be very different from others,—they preserve to a certain extent, at least the general forms of our present sloping copy. The capitals are the same, except by being made vertical look very stiff and mechanical. For an attempt at vertical writing I should recommend our present Spencerian system. In fact there is no such thing as a vertical handwriting for when written at a fair rate of speed it is simply what we call a back-hand. The relative position of the forearm and hand indicates it, and I am sustained in that opinion by some of the highest authorities. This present system succeeded the Odnal system which was a round, shaded hand, but I never knew any one wishing to go back to it. Our present system is taught in all the commercial schools throughout the country and our own public schools have had the credit of turning out more good penmen than any other set of schools in this state and some have even said—than all others combined. Even to-day in every bank and counting-room in this city are found many of our pupils besides scores of them occupying lucrative positions abroad.

Respectfully submitted,

J. S. MONTGOMERY,

Superintendent of Penmanship.

REPORT OF THE SUPERVISOR OF MUSIC.

To Mr. J. C. Simpson, Superintendent of Schools:

The condition of our schools at this time in music is fully up to the standard acquired in former years. The effort to improve the quality of tone in all classes has been very gratifying; especially is it so in the lower grades.

Two-part singing has been introduced somewhat earlier this year, and has been developed to give the pupil a clearer idea of tone color and ability to become rapid readers in part singing, a very desirable thing in class work.

Tests have been given in sight reading, writing music, both from dictation and representation, and in the higher grades a more extended study has been followed.

I have visited several cities the past year to examine the music, and can say our schools compare very favorably with any I have seen, both in quality and ability to perform.

More visits from school officers and parents would be very helpful and encouraging to all, and I hope to see more in the future.

The Introductory Third Music Reader is meeting with good success and I am sure it will fill a long-felt want in the seventh grade, as the songs in three parts are from the best authors and the exercises are of a high educational value.

The High school was never in better condition musically than now, and we hope to keep it so and all other classes up to the best in school music.

Very respectfully,

GEO. D. WHITTIER,

Director.

REPORT OF THE TEACHER OF SEWING.

To Mr. J. C. Simpson, Superintendent of Schools:

The whole number of pupils who are sewing this year in the three grades is about one hundred and fifty; of these, about forty are in the fourth, or beginners', grade. Owing to several untoward circumstances, among which were cloudy and stormy days, and the prevalence of colds and sore throats during the first term of school, the making of the work-bags, which is the first work of these little ones, and their subsequent practice of hemming, back-stitching and over-sewing, was much delayed this year; but after the commencement of this term much better progress was made, and now nearly every girl is at work on some article, such as towels, napkins, pillow-cases, aprons, etc. In the higher grades, the fifth and sixth, one very excellent thing is noticeable this year, that is the number of under garments, skirts, and waists of dresses, etc., which are brought in to be made; it has often been urged upon the pupils to bring such articles as these instead of so many simple articles; and the fact that they are brought would seem to show that the sewing is a branch which is really appreciated in the homes.

Buttonholes and darning will receive due attention from now until the end of the school year; and although natural aptitude counts in this branch, as in others, for a great deal, yet no girl can help getting some insight into these most useful things when obliged to practise them with so much regularity for some weeks.

Very respectfully,

HARRIET M. REMICK,

Teacher of Sewing.

REPORT OF THE SUPERVISOR OF DRAWING.

To Mr. J. C. Simpson, Superintendent of Schools:

Dear Sir:—At your request I submit the annual report of the work done in the department of drawing.

The Prang system of form, drawing and color which has been used for the past two years is still continued. It is supplemented by much object and nature drawing and work in connection with other studies.

In all grades from primary to High school the work is carried along the three lines of representation, decoration, and construction. To this, color is added. The work extends from the clay modeling and stick laying of the first grades to drawing from grouped objects in outline and light and shade, the study of historic ornament, original designs from flower forms, and simple working drawings. This year the work in color has been advanced one grade.

In the primary grades wooden type models are used which are related in every lesson to like forms in every day life. Development of the child rather than expression or execution is looked for. The child is taught to see for himself and to express his thought of what he has seen as a whole. The idea of beauty is kept always before him. In the grammar grades and High school the same thought and methods are carried farther on. Better execution is demanded and more analysis. Detail is studied as well as wholes. More stress is laid on placing, selection, arrangements, and the qualities that go to make a pleasing picture. In all the grades much attention is given to the proper way of handling the pencil to insure freedom of movement and easy sketching. Care is taken as to the quality of the line and neatness of execution. Under the new form of education the creative faculties and self activities of the child are stimulated to self expression as much as possible. Things in which the child is interested, the world about him, nature, and his play life, are utilized in work. It is the endeavor not only to have drawing in the public schools, as a means of thought expression, and a training of hand and eyes, but art also, as a means of culture. The old idea that artistic ability and feeling for beauty are bestowed on a limited few by a partial Providence is proven false by the results which follow a right training of the many from the primary schools upward or by a single visit to a lower grade during a nature or color lesson. The ability to sing or draw should no more be questioned than the ability to read and write. Indeed, it is not too much to say that all small children are naturally artists through their love of beauty, and impressionists and symbolists as well. This instinctive love for beauty is what we wish to cultivate. We do not try to make artists of the pupils but to work for general culture. Beauty in nature is often the text of a lesson and as far as possible the children are shown good examples of art. The latter are not necessarily expensive and a few well-selected casts, prints, and photographs would do much toward beautifying our school rooms and toward keeping alive the art spirit that is so often choked or destroyed utterly between the bare walls of the average school room. I cannot emphasize strongly enough the need of beauty in the daily life of the child and the necessity of providing something for that need in the school room. Thanks to a few friends, we have been able to do something in a small way with magazine prints and photographs.

I would like to speak of the interest, enthusiasm, and earnestness displayed by teachers and pupils in all the grades. It is very pleasing and helpful. I would also like to speak of the fine work done by Miss Earle during my absence and of the advancement in every grade under her supervision.

The needs of the High school have been most generously met by the city. This year the upper room in the Peabody school has been fitted up for a high school studio. The room has a good north light, desks, stands, models, still life, etc. Proper accommodations and the tools to work with have put the high school work on a different basis from heretofore. Much interest is shown. The regular work is done by the entering class. Owing to size, it is taken in two divisions. It has been the aim this year to work for free expression and to foster growth of appreciation and creative power. To further this simple arrangements in proportion and spacing in landscapes and design have been given, together with object drawing in light and shade and sketching from nature. An elective class is held every other week. This class is made up of volunteers from the whole school. It is as large as can be accommodated and has a large waiting list. The medium used in this class is charcoal and the work is from still life and the cast. It is hoped that this work will grow more every year. It means so much more than mere drawing.

A new feature of this year is the class in drawing composed of the members of the training school. They are doing excellent work. The purpose of this class is to fit the training school teachers for intelligent work in their own school rooms.

I would like once more to express my thanks to the superintendent and the board of education for much kindness, helpful co-operation and generosity in the matter of supplies.

Very respectfully,

MARGARET JORDAN PATTERSON.

OUTLINE OF WORK—1896-'97.

As the name indicates this is an outline rather than a full directive course of study. This outline is supplemented by frequent circulars of direction and information, that need not be printed here. Especially is this true of the work in language, nature study, and drawing. Teachers are advised to make their programmes only after careful study of this outline, and are requested to watch their work carefully with a view to the development of the possible correlations between branches of the same group and between different groups. Any doubts should be resolved by consultation with the principal or superintendent.

LANGUAGE.

FIRST YEAR—FIRST HALF.

Conversational exercises—(Miss Badlam's Suggestive Lessons, pp. 7-32.)

Read from blackboard, (script) from Appleton's and Butler's charts, and two primers, Cyr's and Beginners' No. 1.

Copy words and sentences from reading lessons.

Phonic drill daily.

Use as guide Miss Badlam's Suggestive Lessons in Reading.

SECOND HALF.

Advanced and sight reading from Franklin, Cyr's, Badlam's Normal, and Interstate Primers; and from Cyr's, Badlam's Normal, and Normal Alternate First Readers, the Interstate Primer Supplement and Little Nature Stories, No. I.

Memory Gems.

Dictation.

Capitals, periods, question marks.

Phonics daily.

Oral composing and story reproduction—(Suggestive Lessons, page 40).

SECOND YEAR.

Advanced, sight and silent reading from the First Readers of the First Year and from Cyr's, Franklin, Normal, Normal Alternate, and Barnes Second Readers from Golden Rod Stories and Cooke's Myths.

Memory Gems.

Spelling—(written,) words from all lessons.

Names of letters in the order of the alphabet.

Phonics.

Capitals, punctuation marks.

Letter Writing.

Oral and written composing from the myths and from nature study.

THIRD YEAR.

Advanced, sight and silent reading from Franklin, Barnes, Stickney's and Normal Third Readers, from Baldwin's Fairy Tales. Scudder's Folk Stories. Anderson's Tales. The World and Its People and All the Year Round Series.

Memory Gems.

Spelling, oral and written, from all lessons.

Phonics daily.

Phonics daily.

Spelling from all lessons, oral and written.

Declamation once a month.

Structure of sentence, study of subjects and predicates objectively.

Metcalf's Language Exercises, Parts II and III.

Frequent exercises in composing from literature and nature.

SEVENTH YEAR.

Reading—Franklin Fifth Reader. Hawthorne's Twice Told Tales, etc. Franklin's Autobiography. Whittier's Snow Bound, Among the Hills, and Tent on the Beach. Kingsley's Greek Heroes.

Spelling as before.

Declamation once a month.

Grammar—Teach to recognize the parts of speech.

Objective study of sentence.

Practical Lessons in Use of English, Book II. Our Language, Part I.

Composing from literature and nature.

EIGHTH YEAR.

Reading—Franklin Fifth Reader. Irving's Sketch Book. Longfellow's Evangeline and Miles Standish, Cooper's Pilot. Spelling, oral and written.

Phonics daily.

Declamation once a month.

Essays twice each term. Four abstracts of books read at home.

Grammar—Elements of sentence; parts of speech; plural and case forms; pronouns; adjectives.

NINTH YEAR.

Read Scott's Ivanhoe and Lady of the Lake. Life of Scott.
Spelling, both oral and written.
Phonics daily.
Declamation once a month.
Composition, as for eighth year.
Grammar—Analysis; verbs.

MATHEMATICS.

FIRST YEAR. FIRST HALF.

Numbers to 5, objectively (without figures). Use Wentworth and Reed as a guide.

SECOND HALF.

Numbers to 10, objectively; teach figures; counting objects to 50; use Wentworth and Reed, also Numbers Illustrated.

Roman Numerals to XII—Teach time by the clock.

SECOND YEAR.

Numbers to 20. Signs of addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division. Halves, fourths, thirds, and sixths. Pint, quart, gallon. U. S. Money. Pound, ounce, peck, bushel, building tables. Time by the clock. Roman Notation to XX.

THIRD YEAR. FIRST HALF.

Add, subtract, multiply and divide by 100. Numeration and Notation to 1000. Yard, foot, inch. Teach fifths and eighths. U. S. Money. Give much mental work. (First Lessons in Numbers.)

SECOND HALF.

Add, subtract, multiply and divide (divisors to 12) to 1000. Roman Notation to M. U. S. Money. Mental work.

FOURTH YEAR.

Fundamental processes to one million. Tenths and hundredths. Teach the principal weights and measures. Mental arithmetic.

Addition and subtraction of small fractions, objectively. U. S. money. Bills. (Brief Course Arithmetic.)

FIFTH YEAR.

Addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division thoroughly reviewed. Common weights and measures. Simple fractions to twelfths and thousandths (all the processes), Weights and measures. U. S. money. Bills. Mental work. (Brief Course Arithmetic.)

SIXTH YEAR.

Common and decimal fractions (simultaneously.) Bills. Factors and multiples.

Weights and measures completed (Measurements, pp. 121--166, omitting metric system).

SEVENTH YEAR.

Compound numbers. Practical work in long, square, and cubic measures, and in avoirdupois weight.

Percentage (with and without the elements of time.) Method of Interest, p. 187. (Complete Arithmetic.)

Geometrical problems.

EIGHTH YEAR.

Review the work of previous years. Ratio and proportion. Square root.

Geometrical problems.

Book-keeping.

NINTH YEAR.

Algebra,

Review arithmetic. Principles, definitions.

Geometrical problems.

GEOGRAPHY.

FIRST YEAR.

Oral lessons in connection with Reading and Oral Composition.

Occupations of people, beginning with those represented in homes of the pupils.

Show in how many ways people must work to provide for our daily wants.

Industries of Portsmouth and vicinity.

Coal, where mined, how carried, for what use, kinds of coal. Shoes, how made, of what, where sent; leather, its source, preparations, uses, etc. Railroads and vessels as means of transporting supplies. All local industries similarly studied.

Where do the streets about the school-house lead to? What is seen upon them in the pupils' journeys between school and home, and a moderate distance beyond? Location of railroad station, post-office, shops, etc., in the town, taught with aid of blackboard sketches (not maps), or plans, blocks, etc.

Geographical units—hill, valley, plain, brook, pond, river, field, wood, meadow,—Taught as met in the reading lessons, and as seen by the pupils in coming to school.

SECOND YEAR.

Oral lessons, with aid of syllabus in White's Elements of Pedagogy, pp. 271--278.

Review and extend the range of subjects treated last year.

Teach something of geographical facts which are unseen, with the aid of those that are known—mountain, a greater hill; lake, a greater pond; sea, still greater, so that objects on other side can not be seen. Where brooks come from; water in the ground; rain and snow from clouds; cloud, a fog-bank high above the earth. Where clouds come from; water left alone "dries up" into the air; higher atmosphere very cold condensation of water there, as of vapor on cold window. Mud washed away by streams; large valleys cut by them like the small gullies in the road.

Develop in this year's work ideas of position, direction, and distance. East and west (sunrise and sunset), north (pole star), south (sun at noon); the compass, its use at sea, etc. Distances; the inch, foot, 100 feet (measured in school yard); mile (over fifty of these lengths). Size of schoolroom. Places just a mile, one-half mile, one-quarter mile, from the school house. How far each pupil has to walk from home to school.

THIRD YEAR.

Oral lessons. Review and extend work of second year, and complete syllabus to page 283. Common geographical forms of the vicinity, taught with the aid of a few out-of-door exercises, in sections.

Longer distances. What lies beyond the hills? What would be found in going north, north-east, east, etc., from Portsmouth?—towns, streams, etc.

Some notion of countries different from that about Portsmouth, with aid of pictures. The sea; mountains; barren, forest, and field; wet and dry; hot and cold, etc.

Read stories from World and Its People.

Construction of simple maps—the school room, the school grounds, and the neighboring part of the city.

FOURTH YEAR.

Frye's Primary Geography. Home Geography. The earth. Slopes of the earth. Surface of North and South America and Asia. Geographical Readers.

FIFTH YEAR

Primary geography. Surface of Africa and Australia. People; heat; wind and rain; plants; animals. Study of United States and New Hampshire. Political geography of the grand divisions.

SIXTH YEAR.

Grammar school geography. Study of the earth as a whole. Continental study of North and South America. Free use of supplementary material. Map drawing and modelling for relief.

SEVENTH YEAR.

Study of the earth as a whole continued. Continental study of Europe and Asia. Special study of New Hampshire and New England. The United States.

EIGHTH YEAR.

Study of the earth as a whole continued. Continental study of Africa, Australia, and Pacific Islands. Special review of mathematical geography. Commercial geography. Development of special lines of study, introducing original investigation. General review.

NINTH YEAR.

Physical geography.

HISTORY.

FIRST YEAR.

Oral teaching. Stories of folk-lore, fable and mythology. Observation of sun, moon, stars, snow, rain, etc., with related myths and stories. Stories of the childhood of noted persons —Washington, Columbus, etc.

SECOND YEAR.

FOURTH YEAR.

Oral teaching. The same work continued. Stories of the Crusades; the invention of printing and of gunpowder; the early Norse discoveries; Columbus, Raleigh, and other explorers. Local history from Stories of American History.

FIFTH YEAR.

Story of the Greeks. The Heroic Age. The Persian Wars. Later History.

SIXTH YEAR.

Story of the Romans, and their great leaders. Higginson's or Montgomery's Beginners' History of the United States.

SEVENTH YEAR.

Read Dickens' Child's History of England. Discuss events that had a particular bearing on our own history.

EIGHTH YEAR.

American history by topics to 1789.

NINTH YEAR.

American history since 1789. Constitution U. S. State and city government. Read Miss Dawes's "How we are Governed."

NATURE STUDY.

MINERALS, PLANTS, ANIMALS, NATURAL PHENOMENA.

FIRST YEAR.

Natural objects in a broad way as wholes. Conversation and oral language. Talks on weather, rain, dew, clouds, mist, frost, wild flowers, insects, autumn leaves, fruits. Use parts in number work. Buds and birds in the spring.

SECOND YEAR.

Observation of the parts of natural objects; qualities that distinguish these parts; uses to the plant or animal; uses to man. Flowers, trees, fruits, minerals. Collect specimens of quartz, mica, coal, glass, chalk, marble, iron, lead, etc. Qualities, properties, and uses discussed and used in language work.

THIRD YEAR.

Extended observation of the parts of plants and animals with special reference to the arrangement of the parts and their work. Calyx, corolla, stamens and pistils of simple flowers. Sketching and mounting in herbaria. Venation of leaves; simple and compound leaves. Dispersion of seeds. Storing of food in seeds. Crickets and beetles. Hibernation and migration. Fishes. Stories of the locality. Properties of air and forms of water.

FOURTH YEAR.

Begin the work of grouping natural objects, thinking of the uses to man and the geographical relations. Review of fruits, stems, twigs, buds. Soils (in geography), gravel, sand, clay. Weather record. Grouping common animals. Vertebrates. Carnivorous and herbivorous animals. Birds, covering, head, legs.

FIFTH YEAR.

Observation of types with special application to geography, adaptations to climate, uses for food, clothing, etc. Careful descriptions and drawings. Insects. Deciduous trees. Germination; evaporation; condensation. The three states of matter. Heat as the cause of change. Temperature and the thermometer. The properties of matter. Building stones, their properties and uses.

SIXTH YEAR.

Erosion and deposition. Deciduous and evergreen trees. Structure of stems; outside and inside growers; cross and longitudinal sections. Metals, kinds, forms, and uses. Air as an agent in combustion; expansion by heat. Air currents and ventilation.

SEVENTH YEAR.

Grasses, cereals, and plant products. Iron ores, coal series. The straight lever; the pulley; sound, vibration, and pitch; cohesion and adhesion.

EIGHTH AND NINTH YEARS.

Careful study of some prominent plant family, its characteristics and adaptations. Lime, rocks, and marbles. Specific gravity, magnetism, and the compass. Atmospheric pressure and the siphon. The expansive force of water in freezing. Solution. Oxygen as an agent in combustion and life.

PHYSIOLOGY AND HYGIENE.

FIRST YEAR.

Learn to name and locate parts of body—head, neck, trunk, arms (right and left), hands, feet; movement, use, and care of each part. Show what can be done with each part. Joints: show how they allow freedom of movement. How parts are adapted to uses; right use. Kindness how shown by hands, feet, lips. Give physical exercises related to lessons. Emphasize cleanliness.

SECOND YEAR.

Continue study of Parts of Body—Position of body compared with that of common animals; arms, wings and fore legs. Parts of Head—Crown, back and sides; hair, combing and brushing; face, complexion and washing the face; ears. Parts of face—Forehead, temples, cheeks, chin, lips; eyes, eyebrows, lashes, lids; nose, nostrils, bridge; mouth, teeth, tongue; cleaning teeth. Neck—Throat, back of neck; protection. Arms—Movements; joints, shoulders, elbows, wrists. Hand—Back, palm, thumb, fingers; joints, fists, knuckles; forefinger, middle, ring and little fingers; motions, strength and use; nails and their uses: cleanliness, paring and biting. Legs—Motions, proper walking, hip, knee and ankle joints; thigh, shin, calf, foot. Feet—Sole, instep, heel, ball, arch; tight and short shoes; cold and damp feet; cleanliness of feet; neat shoes and stockings. Bones. Skin—Emphasize cleanliness and neatness, both of person and of clothing.

THIRD YEAR.

Simple lessons on eating, drinking, breathing, sleeping, and clothing, with special reference to hygiene and right habits. Healthful foods and drinks; the flesh-making foods; the heat-giving foods, what they are, why we eat them. Water, why we need it; unwholesome drinks. Why plain and simple food is best; how unwholesome food may hurt us. Temperance in eating and drinking. When to eat. Bad effects of tobacco. Why we breathe. How we breathe. Changes in the air from breathing. Why bad air makes us ill. Exercises in breathing. Use of sleep; hours of rising and retiring. The skin; the sweat tubes (drain pipes of the body). Need of bathing; how and when to bathe. Clothing; warmth, cleanliness. Care of feet, head, and throat to prevent colds.

FOURTH YEAR.

How food is changed to bone, muscle, etc. The blood; the tubes that carry it; the heart as a busy pump. What the blood does for us. Exercise; why we need it; when and how to take it; how it affects the circulation of the blood. Effects of alcohol and tobacco upon the blood-vessels and heart. Study of the Senses. The Nose and Smell—Odors; pungent, aromatic, etc. Use of odors; determining good food, pure air, etc. Powers of scent in animals. Pure air and ventilation. The Tongue and Taste—Tongue and saliva; kinds of flavors; chewing gum, tobacco, etc.; hot and strong drinks; thirst, and proper time to drink; habits of eating and table manners. The Senses of Touch and Temperature—Use of fingers and delicacy of touch; rough and smooth, hard and soft, etc.; hot and cold; exercises in estimating temperatures of air and water; temperature of the body. Cleanliness. Eye and Sight—Color of eyes; white, iris, pupil; change in pupil for light; bony socket and eyeball; eyelids, lashes, brows, winking; tears; too little and too much light; reading at twilight; holding work too near, cleanliness. Ear and Hearing—Sounds known by the ear, transmitted by the air and by solids; direction, pitch, and quality of sounds; shape of the ear, internal ear, cleanliness; care of ear; cold draughts; pulling and shouting into the ear; listening attentively.

FIFTH YEAR.

Review work of primary grade. Careful study of the bony framework of the body. The Skeleton—Skull, spine, ribs, bones of limbs, etc. Structure of bones. Joints; kinds, uses, lubrication. Dislocation of joints; broken bones. Teeth—Kinds and number; two sets; cutting teeth; enamel, crown, root; cleansing, how and when; effects of hot drinks, candy, pickles, biting hard substances, etc. Proper mastication of food.

SIXTH YEAR.

Review the skeleton. Study of the Muscles—Appearance, lean meat; attachment to bones; action of muscles; uses of the various muscles; cultivation of strength; exercise, proper kinds of play, work and rest. Sprains and bruises. Effect of narcotics and stimulants.

SEVENTH YEAR.

Review the work of grade 6. The internal organs. Digestion—The organs of digestion; choice of food; use of teeth and saliva, eating slowly, drinking when eating; proper kinds of food and drink; tea, candy, pickles, alcohol, tobacco, etc.; right habits that influence digestion; regular and late meals, chewing gum, etc. Circulation—Where the blood is, uses of the blood, structure and uses of the heart; the pulse; arteries, veins; tight bands, tight clothes, warmth, exercise, wounds. Effect of narcotics and stimulants. Respiration—Pure and impure blood, windpipe and lungs, how to breathe; pure air and how to get it; drafts; ventilation; disinfection; odors and dust, clean bodies and clothes; out-of-door exercise.

EIGHTH YEAR.

The Brain and Nervous System—Kind of nerves. Parts of the brain. Work of the brain; thinking; right habits of thought, attention, wandering thought; cultivation of powers of concentrated and sustained thought. Exercises. Recreation and repose. Sleep; when and how much. Effect of tea, coffee, alcohol, and tobacco on brain and nerves. How to have strong nerves. Review the senses and sense-organs.

NINTH YEAR.

Text Books. Smith's Physiology.

MUSIC.

[Prepared by George D. Whittier.]

FIRST YEAR.

Study of scale as a whole, parts in relation to the whole, parts in relation to each other. Sounds from dictation, easy skips on modulator. Rote songs from First Reader.

SECOND YEAR.

A daily drill on modulator in all keys. Singing exercises using vowels. Learn pictures of keys. Chart No. I. Learn pitch names on staff. Rote songs reviewed often.

THIRD YEAR.

Begin First Reader. Two part singing from scale ladder. All exercises to be vocalized with different vowels. Chromatic scale.

FOURTH YEAR.

Writing exercises in different keys from dictation. A thorough study of time. Two part singing from Second Reader.

FIFTH YEAR.

Second Reader, part first reviewed, used in connection with part second. Chart No. 2. Different forms of minor scale to be sung from dictation. A thorough drill on chromatic scale, using vowels. Study bass clef, last part of Second Reader, and on Chart No. 2.

SIXTH AND SEVENTH YEARS.

Second Chart with Second Reader, using bass clef. Singing from sight in three parts. Introductory Third Reader.

EIGHTH AND NINTH YEARS.

Third Reader, part first. Review Chart No. 2. Sight reading. Third Reader, part second. Four part songs. A careful review is often given in this grade to establish the object of the Third Reader, viz.: transition. The voices are selected for the tenor at this time. Complete Third Reader. Cecilian Series, III.

OUTLINE OF COURSE IN FORM, COLOR, AND DRAWING.

FIRST YEAR.

Solids—Sphere, cube, cylinder, hemisphere, square and right-angled triangular prisms.

Studied by touch and sight as wholes, as to surfaces, faces, edges, corners. Expression by modelling, paper folding, and cutting, tablet and stick laying, and drawing.

Color—Six primary colors, recognition, matching, relationship. Expression by tablets, sticks, and paper.

SECOND YEAR.

Solids—Ellipsoid, ovoid, equi-triangular prism, cone, square, pyramid, and vase form. Studied by touch and sight as wholes, as to surfaces, faces, edges, and corners.

Expression—Modelling, paper folding, and cutting, tablet and stick laying, and drawing. Color as in the first year; additional work in tints.

THIRD YEAR.

Book I, Prang Course.—Sphere, cube, and hemisphere. Additional work in modelling, paper folding, cutting, making, and drawing in connection with other work; also object drawing from fruit, leaves, boxes, and simple objects. Color—Six primary colors, and two tints, scaling to hue and tone. Decorative work in four-lobed figures, simple historic ornament, simple borders and rosettes.

FOURTH YEAR.

Book 3, Prang Course.—Cylinder, square prism, and vase form. Additional work on paper from Book 2, work in connection with other studies, and object drawing from roots, fruits, leaves, and common objects. Color—Six primaries, six intermediates, and their tints, scaling to hue and tone, historic ornament, borders, rosettes, and surface coverings.

FIFTH YEAR.

Book 4.—Ellipsoid, ovoid, equi-triangular prism. Additional work in connection with language, object drawing from fruits, twigs, leaves, and seed vessels; also boxes, books, and common objects in simple parallel perspective.

Color.—Six primaries with two tints and shades of each. Spectrum in tints, scaling to hue and tone. Historic ornament, borders, rosettes and surface coverings.

SIXTH YEAR.

Book 6.—Cube, cylinder, square, and equi-triangular prisms, square pyramid, and square plinth. Additional work on paper, from Book 5, on cone; work in connection with language and nature; object drawing from natural flowers, and common objects in perspective. Color.—Six primaries, with two tints and shades of each; six intermediates, scaling to hue and tone; historic ornament, borders, rosettes, and surface coverings.

SEVENTH YEAR.

Book 7.—Cube, cylinder, cone, square pyramid, hexagonal prism, hollow cylinder, and vase. Instrumental work and light and shade introduced. Additional work in connection with history, geography and nature: object drawing from fruits, flowers, sprays of leaves and grouped objects. Color.—Six intermediates with their tints and shades. The spectrum in shades. Designs for borders, rosettes and surface coverings. Egyptian historic ornament.

EIGHTH AND NINTH YEARS.

Books 8-9.—Frames, hollow cylinder, cubical steps, cube, in perspective and light and shade. Additional work in connection with language, history and nature: object drawing from sprays, flowers, jars, vases, baskets, books, etc. Color. —Study of grays, harmonies of color, scaling to tone and hue. Greek and Roman historic ornament, designs for borders, rosettes and surface coverings.

HIGH SCHOOL.

Work in original design for metal work, composition and sketching from nature, light and shade from single and grouped objects and from the cast in pencil and charcoal.
